In 1906 the left side of Sasha Marie Weeks house got wrecked by the San Francisco earthquake. But Sasha's family didn't buy the house until 2006. The house had been empty for 100 years. The Weeks found a bunch of antiques. Also, they found two kittens when they moved in. They named the kittens Sugarcakes and Sammy. Sadly, the town of San Francisco decided to tear down the Weeks house. The Weeks had no choice but to move. They took the kittens and antiques and moved to the state of Illinois.

Meanwhile, across town, Sasha's friend Ashley was moving also. Ashley's parents had gotten a divorce. Ashley had been living with her mom for 5 years so, she decided to go live with her dad. It just so happened that Ashley's dad lived in Illinois. Ashley didn't know that Sasha was moving to Illinois also.

"Is your name Ashley?" asked Sasha. "Yes it is!" said Ashley. "Sasha, I'm so happy that we have each other!" said Ashley. "I'm happy too!" said Sasha. "What class are you in?" said Sasha. "I'm in Mr. Martin's class." said Ashley. "Me too!" said Sasha. Let's talk to each other on the swings out at recess today! said Sasha.

"Sasha I'm so happy that I have you here with me today!" said Ashley. "Me too" said Sasha. "Ashley I was thinking that we could start a club that is an outreach to new kids who come to the school and the club will be open to people who don't have many friends also!" said Sasha. "So we can be an outreach to other kids just like were an outreach to each other!" said Ashley. "Let's call it The New Kids Club!" said Sasha.
